Wood industry

*****

Thanks to the presence of the city of Meknes near the Mediterranean Atlas, which is particularly rich in trees, this raw material is the most widely used by traditional manufacturers of the city. Due to its quality, hardness and ability to withstand climatic factors.

The handicrafts of the wood industry are many and beautiful, some of which are used in decoration such as tables and cornices, patterned columns. In addition to sculpture, there is the art of manufacturing wooden doors and ceilings, which consists of many parts decorated with colorful motifs, which are beautifully assembled. But the most beautiful and attractive expression of wood art is found in mosques, Koranic schools and palaces. The property, through its doors and gilded ceilings, and which are decorated with the utmost precision, require it has made great efforts and high skill.

Meknes is one of the most important centers of wood engraving. Cans are represented by luxurious boxes, shelves, bookstores, chairs, and reciter are among the highlights of what the wood industry is producing in this city now. These beautiful artifacts are witness to the continuation of the tradition of engraving on wood and its evolution.

This large balance of the city of Meknes in the arts of wood and its formations, distinguishes them from the rest of the Moroccan cities in this noble article, which is what the people to embrace the National Gallery for wood in its first year in 2012 in the framework of the thematic exhibitions that it included in the National Strategy for the Promotion of Traditional Industry (Vision 2015). Its institutional partners to organize the second edition of this national demonstration space exhibition Al-Sawani tank, from 29 September to 8 October 2017 where great success was dedicated for this forum, which the organizers seek to settle in this historic metropolis rich in its exploits and landmarks.
